You Can Raise Responsible Kids Even In Today's World

Parents feel they are swimming upstream today as they try to raise good kids with sound values. Everywhere they turn, our society seems to be undermining the good intentions of parents. Drugs, alcohol, recreational sex, sitcoms (misleading young people on how best to deal with life), violent video games, unsupervised kids, pedophiles and pornography on the Internet. Add to this, movies and music with vulgar language and obscene themes. Dr. Ken Condrell was raised in the 40's and the 50's and believes it is still possible for parents to be a powerful influence in the lives of their children. His presentation shows parents how to:

- Avoid the permissive and indulgent parenting principles from the last twenty years
- How not to raise a brat
- Avoid the wimpy parent syndrome
- Get children and teens to listen and behave
- Develop parent power and foster respect and obedience
- Solve the most common behavior problems facing every family
- Build a strong family
- Keep the children from creating marital problems
- Be a benevolent dictator at home and have your kids love you
- Change the world by raising good kids
